

Experience

Traveling from winter to winter it taking me into the new space of other reality where creativity blossoms. This journey was true privilege for me to comparing Mongolian winter with Alpine winter located in European higher ground. In 8 weeks, walking on the silence mountain while looking for nature, mountains with strong wind, soft light and clouds all by itself offering breath-taking views in all directions.

When i walk in the valley of great Alpine mountains i felt how tiny i am and this feeling gives me strength to move forward. There`s nothing like the feeling of being up in the mountains, the fresh mountain air, wide open spaces and spectacular alpine scenery. In Bellwald, locations is quiet with a great view of near and distant mountains. Clouds slowly waving over the snow capped mountain peaks. It seems between clouds and mountains has some kind stories.

We overpass how nature and environment is changing in busy human daily life. Also changing our way of life, culture and languages as well. We can see how global warming affecting and speeding melting of mountain glaciers and ice caps. I`ve got a chance to captured some beautiful glacier right on melting time. Also i`ve got chance to recording story with ancient dialect languages from two different places. First story was in Val`danniviers which most of population speaks French and second story was in Bellwald mostly speaks dialect german in the Canton of Wallis. Stories are of ancient origin, and narrators telling the story from different points of view. When narrators telling me what was story about, it was incredible to know all stories come from nomadic lifestyles.
