

These 3 months in Bellwald have felt like a once in a lifetime opportunity. Not only because of the beauty of the place, of which I have had a privileged view from the apartment assigned to me, but because of the calm that this place allows.

Bellwald is an escape from the fast pace of city life, it is an invitation to take things easy. There is no one here to rush you.

It is also an ideal space to create without distractions, thanks to Art Bellwald I had everything I could need to concentrate solely on my artistic work without having to worry about anything else.

An apartment with all the comforts to rest and a study in a house that looks like a fairy tale have been a privilege that I could not have imagined. Everything here is meant for inspiration.

It is also a place where you feel safe and protected, since people have been very kind and welcoming to me, even despite the language barriers.

Special thanks to Madelon, who opened every possible door for me so that I can feel comfortable here.

I have come to feel Bellwald as a home, a place to which I will always return happily. I haven't left yet, but I know I will miss this place a lot. I carry it with me and I leave eternally grateful for everything it offered me.
